

María Ángeles Durán, PhD in Political Science, graduated in Political and Economic Sciences having undertaken complementary studies in Law. She was full professor of Sociology at the Faculty of Economic Sciences of the University of Zaragoza, chair of the Faculty of Economic Sciences at the Autonomous University of Madrid and Professor of Research at CSIC. She collaborated with UNESCO, WHO, ILO, Economic Commission for Latin America, UN Program for Development, UNFPA and UN Women. She published over two hundred works on unpaid work, time use, health, women, inequality and urbanism. Among many other awards and distinctions, she was the first woman to receive the National Sociology Prize, in Spain, in January 2019.